

EU Urges Int'l Community to Support Peace Process in the Horn

Addis Ababa November 16/2018 The European Union has urged international community to contribute for the peace process in the Horn of Africa.

Appreciating the reconciliation, peace and cooperation in the Horn, EU asked the international community to contribute concrete support to sustain it, according to a press release sent to ENA.

Vice President and High Representative of the EU, Federica Mogherini commended the recent meeting in Ethiopia among the leaders of Ethiopia, Eritrea and Somalia.

She added that the UN Security Council resolution lifting sanctions on Eritrea, offers an unprecedented opportunity to accelerate reconciliation and economic integration for all the countries of the Horn of Africa.

"Leaders are overcoming old tensions and unlocking a process for a new era of cooperation which will require the participation of all the countries of the region," she said.

Success will generate prosperity in the whole region, integrate the economies of the Horn of Africa and create confidence to build peace and belonging within and among the nations of the region, she indicated.

She pointed out that the European Union considers the benefits and challenges that accompany such a process well and stands ready to offer its experience and support.

"We expect all partners to support and invest in this historic opportunity for peace and prosperity in the Horn of Africa," the Vice President said.
